Outraged Virtue.

As leader of the Grand Old Party Mr. Roosevelt is morally outraged by the thought that a person like Charlie Haskell can hold public office and be identified with the management of a great political organization, says the New York World.

Mr. Roosevelt himself was nominated for Governor of New York by that eminent jurist Thomas Collier Platt. His nomination for Vice-President was forced by those equally single-minded reformers Thomas Collier Platt and Matthew Stanley Quay. Mr. Roosevelt used to call Marcus Alonzo Hanna "Uncle Mark," and when that unselfish political philanthropist was not sufficiently enthusiastic over the Roosevelt candidacy the President used Joseph Benson Foraker to club Uncle Mark into submission.

Standard Oil is a stench in the Presidential nostrils; but the Standard Oil bank still maintains its intimate relations with the Treasury Department. Harriman is hateful; but Harriman has not yet been compelled to answer the questions put to him nineteen months ago by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

No Presidential lightning strikes Uncle Joe Cannon for protecting the Paper Trust. John Dalzell still represents the Steel Trust in Chicago, and Mr. Roosevelt lumps him among the Republican candidates whose election is necessary to preserve the Government from corporation influence. The virtue that cannot abide Haskell counsels freely with Aldrich, Penrose, Elkins and Scott.

Elihu Root, who was Thomas F. Ryan's personal attorney, remains in the Cabinet as Secretary of State. One of J. Pierpont Morgan's partners is Mr. Root's Assistant Secretary; another is collecting Republican campaign tribute in Pennsylvania and a third came back from Europe recently to express his great satisfaction with the election returns from Vermont. George R. Sheldon is still in Wall street divorcing the ruthless malefactors from their campaign contributions.

Surely it cannot be the Haskell corporation affiliation alone which so incenses Mr. Roosevelt. Neither can it be the sordid fact that Haskell has been caught with the goods. The author of the letter to "My Dear Sherman" in the matter of the Harriman $260,000 campaign contribution would never repudiate a fellow statesman simply for being the victim of a little unexpected and undesired publicity.

Mr. Roosevelt has weighed the Democratic Haskell and finds him more offensive than all the Republican Hasskells combined except such as happen to be in opposition to My Policies. Can anything short of personal and partisan prejudice account for the intensity of this disfavor? Surely Haskell as given every proof that he too, is "a practical man."

War to the Death.

Senator Foraker's statement leaves no possible doubt as to his intentions and purposes. He is out to defeat Mr. Taft and is going to bend all his political energies toward that end. Anxious as he may be to lift himself up he is no less anxious to pull Mr. Taft down. As the campaign progresses Senator Foraker perceives how hopeless is the task of rehabilitating himself it is obvious that he will work the more desperately to defeat the Republican candidate for President.

Whether he can accomplish his purpose depends on the amount of influence that is left to Mr. Foraker since his exposure of his relations with the Standard Oil Company. But one thing is certain. In all his political career Mr. Roosevelt has never had to deal with so able and desperate an enemy as the one who now confronts him in Mr. Taft's own State. It is war to the death.

Big Scare in Washington.

The National Tribune (Rep.) reports a big scare in official Washington. The oldsters are recalling the September days of 1896 when the great political scare reached up to Mark Hanna, and he forthwith went out and shook down Wall Street. Everybody has heard something from somewhere, and it is always to the detriment of the Republicans. They put all of those things together, and conclude that the campaign is going to the very bow-wows, and Bryan is going to ride right in on a big wave and deprive them of their jobs. Probably there is some reason for the Republican leaders to be up and doing, for the Bryan campaign has been progressing from success to success. At the outset it was believed that Taft could be elected easily, but the opinions of politicians way up in G. O. P. circles have evidently been changed since then. Trouble for "my candidate" is brewing in the East.

Good Chance in East.

An undercurrent of feeling prevails in the East that Mr. Bryan has a better show of winning out in the present campaign, than upon either of the two previous occasions, when he was a presidential candidate. There are very grave doubts being expressed whether Mr. Taft can carry either Illinois or Indiana. They are more than debatable ground. In New York the Republican party is split wide open over Governor Hughes candidacy. Without something intervenes to heal the sore spots in the Empire State, is sure to go Democratic, as is Georgia or Arkansas.

John D. Rockefeller has refused to take from the custom house a sword reputed to have been worn by Cromwell which an English admirer sent him. Standard Oil does its work with a pen.

COMMON SENSE

Leads most intelligent people to use only medicines of known composition. Therefore it is that Dr. Pierce's medicines, the makers of which print every ingredient entering into them upon the bottle wrappers and attest its correctness under oath, are daily growing in favor. The composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines is open to everybody. Dr. Pierce being desirous of having the search light of investigation turned fully upon his formulae, being confident that the better the composition of these medicines is known the more will their great curative merits be recognized. Being wholly made of the active medicinal principles extracted from native forest roots, by exact processes original with Dr. Pierce, and without the use of a drop of alcohol, triple-refined and chemically pure glycerine being used instead in extracting and preserving the curative virtues residing in the roots employed, these medicines are entirely free from the objection of doing harm by creating an appetite for either alcoholic beverages or habit-forming drugs. Examine the formula on their bottle wrappers—the same as sworn to by Dr. Pierce, and you will find that his "Golden Medical Discovery," the great blood-purifier, stomach tonic and bowel regulator—the medicine which, while not recommended to cure consumption in its advanced stages (no medicine will do that) yet does cure all those catarrhal conditions of head and throat, weak stomach, torpid liver and bronchial troubles, weak lungs and hang-on-coughs, which, if neglected or badly treated lead up to and finally terminate in consumption.

Take the "Golden Medical Discovery" in time and it is not likely to disappoint you if only you give it a thorough and fair trial. Don't expect miracles. It won't do supernatural things. You must exercise your patience and persevere in its use for a reasonable length of time to get its full benefits. The ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed have the unqualified endorsement of scores of medical leaders—better than any amount of lay, or non-professional, testimonials. They are not given away to be experimented with but are sold by all dealers in medicines at reasonable prices.
